

Sarah B. Bouchat

---

CONTACT INFORMATION	110 North Hall 1050 Bascom Mall Madison, WI 53706	Phone: +1 412 977 1405 E-mail: bouchat@wisc.edu Website: http://bouchat.github.io
EDUCATION	UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN–MADISON
	PhD, Political Science Fields: Comparative Politics, Political Methodology	2012–present
	MA, Agricultural & Applied Economics	2015–2016
	MA, Political Science	2012–2013
	HARVARD UNIVERSITY–JOHN F. KENNEDY SCHOOL OF GOVERNMENT
	Master in Public Policy Concentration: Democracy, Politics, and Institutions	2009–2011
	UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO
	AB, International Studies (with General and Departmental Honors)	2005–2008
	EMPIRICAL IMPLICATIONS OF THEORETICAL MODELS	Summer 2016
	IPSA–NATIONAL UNIVERSITY OF SINGAPORE—SUMMER METHODS SCHOOL
	Bayesian Analysis	Summer 2015
	SOUTHEAST ASIAN STUDIES SUMMER INSTITUTE
	Intermediate Burmese	Summer 2014
	Beginning Burmese	Summer 2013
	Beginning Khmer	Summer 2006
DISSERTATION	Title: Credibility &amp; Information under Authoritarianism Committee: Melanie Manion (Co-Chair), Scott Gehlbach (Co-Chair), Alexander Tahk, Rikhil Bhavnani, Ian Coxhead (Agricultural &amp; Applied Economics), Edmund Malesky (Duke University) Abstract: My dissertation seeks to address the question: do actors in authoritarian settings provide credible information? I investigate whether and when credible information can be extracted from the words and behaviors of agents in authoritarian settings. These behaviors are conducted in environments where falsifying preferences or actions is often necessary, and where the information environment is poor. I designate these contexts as “low-information environments” whether they are authoritarian or even simply developing country contexts because data are often missing-not-at-random or are intentionally obscured, and this impacts the strategic behavior of actors as well as our analysis of those actions and outcomes. Incorrectly specifying or interpreting these behaviors threatens the accuracy of statistical inference and analysis of political regimes. In my dissertation I first examine elicited priors as a way to integrate local expertise into statistical analyses of political processes, especially in data-poor circumstances. To achieve this, I introduce a methodological technique based on a Dirichlet process to aggregate Bayesian priors. This method better accommodates situations where expertise may be very divergent because of the skewed information environment. In my second paper, I apply this method directly to a small dataset of the participation of Myanmar members of parliament (MPs). This second paper demonstrates the way in which the method allows for better estimation of a complex model even using small <math>n</math> data, but also uncovers motivations of MPs under authoritarianism that are more complex than previous work has led us to believe. In the third paper, I build on these theoretical and methodological insights further through a new application and refinement of the method.

AWARDS AND FELLOWSHIPS	Center for Southeast Asian Studies Field Research Grant, University of Wisconsin–Madison	2016
	Summer Initiative Funding, University of Wisconsin–Madison	2016
	Fulbright Doctoral Dissertation Research Abroad Fellowship (declined)	2015
	Foreign Language and Area Studies Fellowship (Academic Year), Burmese	2015–2016
	Honorable Mention, Association for Asian Studies Usha Mahajani Award	2014
	Foreign Language and Area Studies Fellowship (Academic Year), Thai (declined)	2014–2015
	Foreign Language & Area Studies Fellowship (Summer), Burmese	2014
	Center for Southeast Asian Studies Field Research Grant, University of Wisconsin–Madison	2014
	Summer Initiative Funding, University of Wisconsin–Madison	2014
	Leon D. Epstein Graduate Fellowship, University of Wisconsin–Madison	2013–2014
	Nominated, Association for Asian Studies Usha Mahajani Award	2013
	Foreign Language and Area Studies Fellowship (Summer), Burmese	2013
	Summer Initiative Funding, University of Wisconsin–Madison	2013
	University Fellowship, University of Wisconsin–Madison	2012–2013
	Nominated, Best Policy Analysis Exercise (MPP thesis)	2011
	Carr Center for Human Rights Policy PAE Research Grant	2010
	Traub-Dicker Summer Research Fellowship	2010
	Kennedy School Grant	2009–2011
	Howell Murray Award, University of Chicago	2008
	Maroon Key Society, University of Chicago	2007–2008
	College Outstanding New Leader Award	2007
	Human Rights Program Internship Award, University of Chicago	2007
	Southeast Asian Studies Summer Institute Tuition Fellowship	2006
	Dean’s List, University of Chicago	2005–2008
PRESENTATIONS	International Methods Colloquium, Presenter	2016
	International Burma Studies Conference, Presenter	2016
	American Political Science Association Annual Conference, Presenter	2016
	Society for Political Methodology Conference, Poster Presenter	2016
	Empirical Implications of Theoretical Models Ending Conference, Presenter	2016
	Midwest Political Science Association, Presenter	2016
	Association for Asian Studies Annual Meeting, Presenter	2016
	Burma/Myanmar in Transition Conference, Lingnan University, Presenter	2015
	Midwest Political Science Association, Presenter	2015
	University of Wisconsin–Madison Comparative Politics Colloquium, Presenter	2014
	University of Wisconsin–Madison Experimental Politics Workshop, Presenter	2014
	Foreign Policy Association Great Decisions Series—Myanmar, Presenter	2013
	Harvard Gay Rights as Human Rights Conference, Presenter	2011
TEACHING EXPERIENCE	Face Value Campaign Advisory Board Convening, Presenter	2010
	National Conference on Race and Ethnicity in Higher Education, Presenter	2007
	UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN–MADISON
	Instructor
	Political Science Dept. Incoming Student Math Camp	Summer 2016
	Political Science Dept. Incoming Student Math Camp	Summer 2015
	Teaching/Lab Assistant
	PS835 Game Theory & Political Analysis (graduate, Prof. Alex Tahk)	Spring 2015
	PS818 Maximum Likelihood Estimation (graduate, Prof. John Ahlquist)	Fall 2014
	PS812 Introduction to Statistics in Political Science (graduate, Prof. Alex Tahk)	Fall 2014
	Grader
	PS401 Political Inequality (Prof. Rikhil Bhavnani)	Fall 2015

HARVARD UNIVERSITY
Course Material Design

SW50 Political Corruption (Profs. Jim Alt and Daniel Ziblatt)

Fall 2013

Instructor/Trainer

Harvard Law School Advocates for Human Rights

2009

RESEARCH
EXPERIENCE

UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN—MADISON—LAW SCHOOL
Research Assistant, Professor Jason Yackee

Madison, WI
Summer 2016

- Designed R script to conduct a text analysis and comparison of the language in bilateral treaties between developed and developing nations

HARVARD UNIVERSITY—DEPARTMENT OF GOVERNMENT
Research Assistant, Professor James Alt

Cambridge, MA
Summer 2011, Summer 2013

- Composed lectures and slides for a Fall 2013 undergraduate political corruption course on topics including: US Political Machines, Legislative Corruption, Campaign Finance, Bureaucratic Corruption, Civil Service Reform, Foreign Aid, Natural Resources & Kleptocracy, and Transparency

UNU—WORLDWIDE INSTITUTE FOR DEVELOPMENT ECONOMICS RESEARCH
Research Assistant, Professors Rikhil Bhavnani and Kate Baldwin

Helsinki, Finland
June–Oct. 2012

- Constructed a database of secondary analyses of political experiments
- Conducted outreach to academics and researchers to solicit articles for inclusion in the database

NATIONAL ENDOWMENT FOR DEMOCRACY
Research Associate, Reagan-Fascell Democracy Fellows Program

Washington, DC
Sept. 2011–July 2012

- Assisted fellows from Azerbaijan, Bulgaria, Ethiopia, Myanmar, Nicaragua, Russia, Tibet, and the United States with research design and data collection on issues including electoral autocracy, democracy assistance and aid, civil society, liberation technology, and political parties
- Reviewed literature on electoral autocracy and rent-seeking, especially in the Caucasus
- Identified articles and books to assist in constructing syllabi about social capital, civil society engagement, and democratization for Russian university students, and women and gender studies for Tibetan college students in India

HARVARD UNIVERSITY—CARR CENTER FOR HUMAN RIGHTS POLICY
Research Associate

Cambridge, MA
2010–2011

- Composed case studies of media and messaging strategies from historical US social movements to inform a public service advertising campaign combating LGBTQ stigma
- Co-facilitated a biweekly study group on human rights and social movements
- Managed logistics and volunteers for the 2011 Gay Rights as Human Rights Conference, with more than 125 participants and 30 presenters

Traub-Dicker Fellow

Summer 2010

- Conducted independent research on Singapore civil society organization tactics

Associate Fellow

2009–2010

- Compiled and analyzed US polling and public opinion data about anti-LGBTQ bias
- Created a presentation of goals and research as a fundraising mechanism for the nonprofit Face Value Project

Intern

Summer 2009

- Reviewed public health and sociology literature on the welfare of LGBTQ youth in schools to support a campaign for Massachusetts K-12 anti-bullying curricula
- Assisted in developing and editing a survey of Myanmar democracy activists

BÜNDNIS FÜR DEMOKRATIE UND TOLERANZ
Human Rights Intern

Berlin, Germany
Summer 2007

- Devised impact measures to evaluate over 150 NGO immigrant rights projects
- Developed recommendations for a national tolerance campaign based on prior NGO projects
- Designed judgment guidelines and tracked submissions for the 2007 “Best Practices” NGO tolerance campaign competition

INTERNATIONAL
EXPERIENCE

Myanmar

Dec. 2014–Jan. 2015

- Conducted preliminary dissertation fieldwork, including interviews with civil society representatives and historical research at the Myanmar National Archives in Yangon

Hong Kong SAR

Dec. 2010–Jan. 2011

- Conducted semi-structured interviews with civil society activists for master’s thesis research examining social movement strategies in nondemocratic contexts

Germany

June–Sept. 2007

- Served as a Human Rights Intern with the Bündnis für Demokratie und Toleranz for 3 months through the University of Chicago Human Rights Internship Program

Cambodia, Thailand, Myanmar

Aug.–Sept. 2006

- Developed international advocacy strategies in collaboration with representatives of over 20 grassroots democracy organizations in Bangkok, Chiang Mai, and Mae Sot as a Free Burma Project/U.S. Campaign for Burma Delegate

AFFILIATIONS

Member, American Political Science Association

2012–present

Member, Midwest Political Science Association

2012–present

Member, Association for Asian Studies

2012–present

Advisor, Carr Center—Sexuality, Gender & Human Rights Program

2012–present

SKILLS

Languages: German (Advanced), Burmese (Advanced), Khmer (Beginner), Eastern Armenian (Beginner)

Computer: Mac OSX, Windows 10, Microsoft Office, L<sup>A</sup>T<sub>E</sub>X, R, STATA, SPSS